

A SCHOOLBOY SHOT DEAD

ARTHUR PHILLIPS RUNS IN FRONT OF LAHADIE'S NEW GUN.

A Cartridge Too Long for the Gun Explodes While Being Forced Into Place—The Bullet Goes Through Young Phillips's Body
Arthur A. Phillips, a student in the Peckskill Military Academy, and the only son of W. Phillips, publisher of Phillips's Elite an Business Directories, was shot by the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of Louia Lahadio, a school fellow, on the grounds of the Academy, Monday evening. He died at 8 1/2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It is reported that only a few boys at the school during the summer term. Life for them is pretty much all holiday. The students are not, as a rule, allowed to use firearms. The guns used in the military drill are never loaded. Some of the old students, however, are allowed to use firearms under certain restrictions.

The boy to whom permission has been granted this term to use a gun is Louia Lahadio. He is 15 years old—almost the oldest boy in the school—is accustomed to the use of firearms, and is said to have always been very careful in their use. His father is a wealthy druggist in the city of Mexico. Young Phillips was 15 years old. He was extremely bright and was well known in the city of Mexico.

On Monday Dr. Tilden gave Lahadio permission to use, generally during his leisure hours, a .38 Smith and Wesson revolver which had recently been purchased. That afternoon Lahadio went hunting in company with a friend, Tilden, Fred Brown, and a young man at the present table he was joked about

He was a good marksman, spent a hour after supper in shooting at the stems of trees in the yard, and he had been in the field back of the academy. He fired off his cartridges and started back to the school house where a party of boys and young ladies playing tennis and looking on. A number ran over to see him.

"Behave! you can't shoot with it," said one.

"I'll bet you can't hit anything if you shoot without it," cried another.

"I'll bet you can't hit it at rooster up there on the roof!"

"How can I shoot it when I haven't got them cartridges?" asked Lahadio.

"You've got 'em," said one who was the caller of the gun, and finding that it was a 32, said that he had a 32 pistol cartridge, and that Lahadio might try it.

Lahadio took the cartridge, looked at it, and found that it really was a 32, but would not enter the breach easily.

"It's all right," said the caller of the gun, "it will go down away from the tennis players, and no harm done."

As he started to do this young Phillips, who had been standing some distance away, stepped forward and said:

He ran in front of the gun. He was right square before it when the cartridge which Lahadee was pushing home exploded and a bullet plunged into Phillips' left side, passing completely through the abdomen. They found the bullet in the little feeble low's clothes when they undressed him. The bullet dropped to the floor and remained standing upright while the comrade carried Phillips into the academy. Dr. Tilden, who examined Phillips's wound, said at once that it was mortal. He called in the village doctor and the two men, who were Phillips' parents, came early next morning, bringing with them Dr. F. F. White. They could not ease the poor boy's sufferings, however, until about five o'clock, when he died, about an hour of his death. He exonerated Lahadee from all blame.

Coroner George H. Sutton of Sing Sing has and Mrs. Phillips came to this city with a body at 11 o'clock last night. The body was taken to their residence, 1101 East 12th street. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

Obituary.

Henry N. Beers of 216 East Fourth street died yesterday morning at his home. I. He was born in Lexington, N. Y., in 1918 and retired with fortune from business as a glass manufacturer about sixteen years ago. He devoted his leisure to the affairs of the municipality. He was a member of the Committee of twenty and of the Council of Public Affairs. He leaves a widow and three adult children, two sons and one daughter.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. L. J. Robinson died on Monday at his home in Franklin. Robinson was 81 years of age. For two years he held the position of assistant secretary of the Indiana department of the Interior. During the war he was in the United States army.

[illegible]

"Take Care of My Diamonds."

"Officer, something is going to happen me take care of my diamonds," said a young woman Policeman Horn at Eighteenth street and Sixth avenue last evening. Half a minute later the woman was seized with hysterics, and then she fell in a heap on the sidewalk. An ambulance was summoned and she was taken to the New York Hospital.

About the same time a young man entered Capt. W. H. Williams' office and inquired for a man named Harry Williams, who he said had been lost on Sixth avenue. He said he was Harry Williams of Nyack. He identified

The Weather Yesterday.

Indicated by Hudnut's thermometer: 8 A. M. 72°; 9 A. M. 72°; 9 A. M. 77°; 12 M. 88°; 3 P. M. 84°; 6 P. M. 77°; 9 P. M. 77°. Average 77°. Wind light S. S. W. Average 7.5 m. per hour. Average on July 11, 1884, 70°.

Signal Office Prediction.

Fair weather, nearly stationary temperature.

JOINTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Ex-Senator Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

The Broadway horse car men are waiting for District Assembly 7, to arrest and take hold of their grievances.

Mr. Blum was held in Jefferson County Jail for selling liquor without a license at 140 West Tenth street.

The stock boards of the Competing Railway Company were opened, the Delaware and Company failed today.

St. Francis Hospital for Children, 497 West Tenth street, has received contributions to the fund for the children.

Judge Brown has granted an absolute divorce to Berne Tepp from Frank Tepp, and to Henrietta Rose from Benj. Rosenblatt.

1000-1002-1004-1006-1008 East Commercial street.

The police made a raid on Madison Square, Union Square and Washington Parks at 2 A. M. yesterday and arrested twenty-two tramps. They were sent to the workhouse.

Henry A. Wells, aged 48, of 124 Eleventh street, clerk at Sweetzer, Pembroke & Co.'s, Broadway at Washington, was brought away from the store and the water yesterday and his jaw was crushed.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 people passed into the Empire City Coliseum yesterday to attend the tenth annual festival given by District Grand Lodge, No. 1, of the Improved Order of the Bazaar. The proceeds go to the relief fund of the order.

The United French Societies of New York will give

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction gave orders to the police to keep the drunkards who are free to enter the city at night out of the streets. The officers of the 217 East twenty sixth street, which is the headquarters of the "Bottle Socials," were sentenced by Recorder Smith yesterday to seven days in the House of Correction for having been drunk and sent home by the police. One slept on the sidewalk and was heard to mutter:

"To improve the plauding and sewerage of the city, I thought I'd go to the House of Correction."

He was taken to the House of Detention, where he will stay until he is able to get on his feet.

Thirty pauper immigrants, mostly Arabs and Bohemians, arrived from Hamburg at Castle Garden yesterday. Twenty-eight were women and children, and only two were men. The women were dressed in the latest styles and were well to do. The men were dressed in the style of a week they will be sent back.

A note was entered recently in the case of Daniel J. O'Connell, a well known Irishman, who was arrested twice for keeping a gambling house at 184 East street, where they conducted the "Lucky Star" Raffle. The note was entered by the police, who were looking for a man who was arrested for keeping a gambling house at 184 East street, where they conducted the "Lucky Star" Raffle. The note was entered by the police, who were looking for a man who was arrested for keeping a gambling house at 184 East street, where they conducted the "Lucky Star" Raffle.